

Conductor | Music Educator

Jessica Papi is a Brazilian conductor and music educator with a strong passion for artistic excellence and youth development. She holds a Master's degree in Orchestral Conducting from Florida International University (FIU) in Miami, FL, where she served as Assistant Conductor for the FIU Symphony Orchestra, working closely with talented young musicians showcasing her leadership .

Jessica's dedication to continuous growth is evident in her academic achievements, including a Master's degree in Music with a specialization in Music Theory and Analysis from UNESP (State University of São Paulo, Brazil) and a Bachelor's degree in Conducting. She has trained with renowned conductors worldwide, refining her skills and expanding her artistic perspective.

As a versatile musician, Jessica has conducted orchestras, ensembles, and choirs across diverse settings. Recently, she was recognized as the winner of a prestigious conducting competition in Atlanta, solidifying her reputation as a dynamic and innovative conductor in the Miami area and beyond.

For more information, visit: www.jessicapapi.com